F. RISK MANAGEMENT

F.1. Police Risk Management Grant Funds

Marcus Beverly gave a brief overview of the Police Risk Management Grant Funds, we will be continuing with the grant for FY 20/21. Primarily for body cameras but NCCSIF members can use for equipment if members have cameras. Anderson is the only member who is still considering the cost benefits. An updated allocation of Grant funds will be provided at the August meeting. The primary uses are for body cameras and secondary uses are the load bearing vests. Placerville purchased tactical vests and fitness equipment. Willows subscribed to Lexipol fire service because they outsource police.

F.2. CORDICO MOBILE WELLNESS APP PARTICIPATION

Marcus Beverly reviewed the Cordico Mobile Wellness Application pricing. NCCSIF will be contracting with Cordico and getting a discounted rate. Currently it would apply a 10% discount. Discussed counseling fees with cities that have counseling services with the program. Marcus Beverly has reached out for a price quote on counseling services. They offer pre appointment screening and fit for duty testing. Members asked if counseling would be included or if would be billed separately. Members discussed the grant money being used for the app if enough members were interested.

F.3. LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

Tom Kline gave an overview of legislative updates on AB 664, SB-1159 and Executive order N-62-20.

AB 664 is sponsored by assembly member Jim Cooper and Gonzalez, introducing Emergency COVID-19 legislation to protect first responders and healthcare workers.

SB 1159 would apply to essential workers and would only cover COVID-19.

Executive order N-62-20 relates to COVID-19 and any workers that are asked to work outside the home. The order wouldn't include workers choosing to work outside the home. Sedgwick updated the group on the reporting period for Workers Compensation claims. Instead of having 90 days, it would change to 30 days to determine a workers comp claim. If any members received a COVID-19 related claim please report it immediately.

Marcus Beverly discussed if the workers compensation claim had to come from an employee that was actually diagnosed with COVID-19 or if it covered an employee that was exposed. If you get quarantined because you're exposed it's not a Worker's Compensation claim. A positive COVID-19 test is needed to file a Worker's Compensation Claim. Sedgwick discussed that the order gives no specifics for PPE, hotel stays or other expenses.

F.4 TECHNOLOGY DISCUSSION

Tom Kline gave a brief overview of the Vertione Redact. Vertione was scheduled to speak at the meeting today and we have rescheduled for the August 6th meeting.

Marcus Beverly mentioned Laura Cole video production with redaction. With closed captioning and explanation of what's happening. A nice package to release. This service is part of the claim cost. Have had to use it recently and the product is professional and timely.

Tom Kline, discussed Lenslock, looking into date storage option. Explained how body camera videos are uploaded into the system.

F.5. ROUND TABLE DISCUSSION

Agenda Item E.1.

POLICE RISK MANAGEMENT GRANT FUNDS

ACTION ITEM

ISSUE: Over the last seven years, the Board has approved a total of $350,000 in grant funds for Police Risk Management. The Grant Funds Historic Usage Report is included to ensure members are aware of the available grants for their agencies.

RECOMMENDATION: Determine future grant funding and use.

FISCAL IMPACT: To be determined.

BACKGROUND: The Board approved a FY 14/15 budget of $50,000 for the purchase of body cameras for NCCSIF's police agencies. The funds were initially used to purchase a total of 58 cameras directly from VieVu at a quantity discount. The FY 15/16 and FY 16/17 budgets of $50,000 were allocated to the members to fund their body camera programs. If the body camera program is fully funded then member agencies have the option to use the funds for other safety and risk management uses such as data storage for body cameras, ballistic vests, and vests with load bearing carriers. The FY 17/18 budget of $50,000, the FY 18/19 budget of $50,000, and the FY 19/20 budget of $50,000 were allocated to the member police agencies for safety and risk management uses. The FY 20/21 budget of $50,000 will also be allocated to the member police agencies.

Commits to engaging with legislators, community members, law enforcement, and other stakeholders to reexamine public safety in California

Calls on law enforcement statewide to develop and implement policies, as appropriate, on use-of-force in line with today's recommendations and community needs

SACRAMENTO – California Attorney General Xavier Becerra today announced a broad agenda for police reform aimed at improving use-of-force procedures, addressing issues around bias in policing, and increasing accountability and transparency. The proposals build on work by the California Department of Justice (DOJ) under Attorney General Becerra's leadership, including several pattern-or-practice investigations and collaborative reform initiatives. Many of the proposed reforms stem from policing best-practices and recommendations made to the Sacramento Police Department by the Attorney General in January of 2019. In addition, the Attorney General urges law enforcement statewide to begin incorporating today's recommendations on use-of-force, which largely align with the current nationwide #8CantWait campaign calling for immediate action on police reform. The proposals announced today are meant to support and contribute to ongoing national and statewide conversations around efforts to rebuild public trust and strengthen our criminal justice system. Importantly, these proposals are meant to encourage policies and practices that keep everyone safer and proactively protect against the unnecessary loss of life. Today's announcement is only an initial step and it will take sustained work at every level to meet the challenge.

"Communities across the country have courageously spoken up to demand change. We cannot afford to ignore the realities faced by Black Americans and people of color in this nation," said Attorney General Becerra. "It will take sustained work by all of us to answer the call. That's why we're urging local authorities across California and we in state government to actively work with community leaders to achieve lasting, forward-thinking, comprehensive policing reform. Although these proposals and others like them are just an initial step, they represent an important move forward in improving public trust, increasing transparency and accountability, and reducing excessive force. Now is the time for action by leaders at every level."

Once again, our nation has been called to reckon with police brutality against people of color in this country and the systemic failures that cause and allow this misconduct to perpetuate. Recent events, including the death of George Floyd at the hands of Minneapolis Police Department officers and the law enforcement response to nationwide protests, highlight the urgency to act and heal the strain that has developed between local authorities and the communities they serve. In addition to building on current and emerging research, best practices, national standards, community expectations, and DOJ's direct experience with police reform efforts, today's proposals also draw on lessons learned from annual reviews and analyses of stop data pursuant to the California Racial and Identity Profiling Act of 2015. In sharing these proposals, the Attorney General commits to engaging with legislators, community members, law enforcement, and other stakeholders to reexamine public safety in California and bring about much needed change. While much work lies ahead, the proposals identify several potential reforms that aim to reduce the use of force, increase impartiality and transparency, and in turn lead to more effective service to our communities.

First, the Attorney General urges law enforcement agencies statewide to develop and implement policies, as appropriate, to adopt the following use-of-force reforms:

- Intervention: All agencies should have a policy requiring officers to intervene to stop another officer from using excessive or unnecessary force;
- Ban Chokeholds and Carotid Restraints: All agencies should have a policy prohibiting the use of chokeholds, strangleholds, carotid restraints or other restraints, or body positioning that is designed to, or which may foreseeably result in, the cutting off of blood or oxygen to the person;
- De-Escalation: All agencies should require officers to de-escalate situations, when possible, before using force;
- Proportionality: All agencies should provide express guidance on proportionality to ensure officers understand the relationship that should exist between the force they use and the threat presented in a particular situation. The guidance may include adopting a spectrum, chart, or matrix, which can take the form of a graphical representation;
- Verbal Warnings: All agencies should require officers to give verbal warning, when feasible, before using force, whether lethal or less-lethal;
- Moving Vehicles: All agencies should prohibit officers from discharging a firearm at the operator or occupant of a moving vehicle unless the operator or occupant poses an imminent threat of death or serious bodily injury to the public or an officer. All agencies should also prohibit officers from discharging a firearm from their moving vehicle, providing only for exceptions that require such actions to end an imminent threat to human life;
- Deadly Force As Last Resort: Consistent with the core concepts of de-escalation, necessity, and proportionality, all agencies should require that deadly force be used only as a last resort when reasonable alternatives have been exhausted or are not feasible to protect the safety of the public and police officers;
- Comprehensive Reporting: All agencies should create a general order dedicated to use of force reporting and investigations, requiring comprehensive reporting that includes both uses of force and threats of force; and
- Canine Use: All agencies should discontinue the use of “find and bite” and “bite and hold” techniques and instead implement “find and bark” or “circle and bark” techniques, where canines are trained and deployed to alert by barking, rather than biting a suspect as a first response, and then circling and barking until the handler takes control.

Significantly, in addition to calling for the inclusion of these use-of-force recommendations where needed in state law, the Attorney General highlights the following initial areas to either support or sponsor major criminal justice reform legislation:

- Decertify peace officers for serious misconduct, including provisions requiring law enforcement agencies to complete investigations even after a peace officer leaves a department;
- Expand reviews of law enforcement policies and practices, by enhancing DOJ's capacity to review and proactively help law enforcement agencies across the state reform their policies and practices to align with community needs;
- Require policies and training on bias by proxy, which occurs when a person calls the police and makes false or ill-informed claims about individuals they are biased against — as well as provisions for auditing the effectiveness of such training;
- Place clear limits on crowd control techniques during protests or mass gatherings, including restrictions and guidance on the use of rubber bullets, tear gas, pepper spray, and batons;
- Forbid the use of pepper spray against children in juvenile detention, which can traumatize juveniles and undermine efforts to build trust; and
- Reexamine the role of police in addressing homelessness and mental health crises, recognizing that police officers are increasingly called upon as first responders to engage with people facing homelessness who may suffer from mental illness or other medical conditions, and that officers are not generally equipped to handle situations involving mental health crises or referrals for social services.

Ford's police SUVs will heat up to 133 degrees to disinfect the interior

By Peter Valdes-Dapena, CNN Business 5/27/2020

The ongoing spread of coronavirus has made disinfecting police vehicles a major issue. After the New York City Police Department asked for a better way to sanitize its vehicles, Ford created software that will burn the germs out of the police department's SUVs, the company announced Wednesday.

Ford has started rolling out a new software system for its Police Utility vehicles that will automatically disinfect the SUVs.

With the new software, the Ford Police Utility -- a version of the Ford Explorer SUV -- can use its engine along with the cabin ventilation system to raise interior temperatures to 133 degrees

Fahrenheit for 15 minutes. That's hot enough and long enough to kill more than 99% of disease-causing germs in the vehicle, including the coronavirus, according to Ford.

In newer versions of the Police Utility, officers can initiate the process with a special series of presses on the vehicles' cruise control buttons. In older models of the Police Utility, model years 2013 through 2015, the process can be started by a technician using a device plugged into the SUV's electronic diagnostics port.

"You certainly don't want it to be something that gets activated accidentally so it is a complicated enough cycle that you'd have to be paying attention to what you're doing to, to get it to start," said Bill Gubing, Ford's director of passenger vehicles and SUVs.

Once the system is activated, the officer or technician then leaves the vehicle. The doors are locked automatically as the engine runs at an unusually high idle speed of around 2,000 RPM. That heats the engine coolant, which is then used to heat air that's pumped into the cabin, raising the cabin temperature for 15 minutes.

Once the car has been kept hot for 15 minutes a cool down process begins. First, unheated outside air is pumped into the cabin, flushing out the hot air. Then the air conditioning is switched on to cool the cabin further.

This system is better than just cleaning the inside of the car with disinfectant spray because the heat permeates the entire occupant compartment. Germs are killed even in hard-to-reach areas and there's no chance of any places being accidentally overlooked. Some special equipment installed by police departments could block the flow of hot air to all parts of the vehicle, though, a Ford spokesman said.

There are currently no safeguards to prevent the system from being turned on while a person or animal is inside the car, according to Ford. It's up to the police officer or technician to make sure the vehicle is empty before the system starts. If any of the controls inside the car, such as the steering wheel, pedals or gear selector, are moved while the system is running, the process automatically stops.

Adding sensors to reliably detect people or animals inside the car would have caused delays in getting the system out to police cars in the field, Gubing said.

"We'll continue to work with our agencies and get their feedback on how well it works and look at how we adjust if need be in the future," he said. "But right now, for speed, it's really officer or initiator dependent."

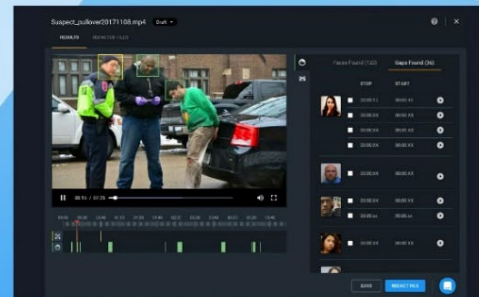

The interior of the car won't be harmed by the process, said Gubing. Even though 133 degrees is hot enough to kill viruses and bacteria, it's still well below the 176 degrees, at which Ford vehicle interiors are routinely heat tested. That's as hot as the interior of a closed vehicle can get on a summer day in the desert, he said.

The software is available to all police departments in the United States that use Ford Police Utilities. For now, the system is only being applied to Police Utility SUVs, Ford said, because they make up the majority of Ford police vehicles. The system may later be made available for police versions of Ford's other trucks, vans and sedans.

VERITONE REDACT™

For Law Enforcement and Judicial Agencies

Save time and increase productivity by automating the redaction of faces and sensitive imagery in audio and video evidence.

AUTOMATED AUDIO & VIDEO EVIDENCE REDACTION

Expedite Redaction of Any Sensitive Items

- Automatically detect faces within video evidence, with results displayed in previewable groups by likely individual for quick and easy review.
- Select any sensitive image or audio portion then optionally track the defined images forward in the video evidence, expediting a once manual process.
- Modify a previously redacted video or audio file from the last version if any personally identifiable information (PII) is missed.

Fulfill Chain of Custody Requirements

- Capture comprehensive reporting of all actions taken against redacted video or audio evidence to support compliance with chain of custody requirements.
- Download all actions as audit logs in Excel file format along with redacted audio or video file.

Search Audio Transcripts to Find Key Info

- Listen to the audio while the transcript tracks along karaoke style - click on any word within the transcript to listen in
- Type keywords into the search bar and press enter to view them highlighted within the transcript
- Click on the time bar to see the start and end time of a highlighted audio segment

Collaborate Easily Across Agencies

- Manage digital evidence redaction workloads by tagging video or audio evidence with its status in the approval workflow.
- Download and send shareable redacted audio or video evidence files for quick distribution in existing inter and intra-agency workflows.
